

"Drifting"

*Are you looking at your life and wondering where it will all end?
You try to look ahead but can't see around that bend.
You worry and fret about what is to come next,
Seems you can't plan and fear you will wreck.*

*Your life has been drifting and is now out of control,
The boat is in a storm and beginning to rock and roll.
You were just drifting but now there's a fork in the river,
And you've got to decide, turn back now or it may be never.*

*It started out with just a little sin and neglect,
But now your life is not far from a total wreck.
You had let Jesus be at the helm for awhile.
But now you have drifted along mile after mile.*

*No time for prayer or reading the Word,
As you drifted farther and farther from our precious Lord.
Come back now, let Him back into your boat,
His direction and love will keep your ship afloat.*

*Drifting is a dangerous game the Devil wants you to play,
So come back now, do it without delay.
Just start reading the Word again and begin to pray,
Determine to begin right now and He will show you the way.*

*Drifting, drifting through life, don't let it happen to you,
Set your eyes on Jesus, and be counted with the few,
Who have found their way into the harbor and are nearing the dock,
You'll find safety when you anchor on to Jesus, the mighty Rock.*

By Louise Hall