

“Seasons of Life”

We've gone through springtime, summer is gone,
We've gone through fall, now winter is coming on.
Days are bleak and cold, and winds may become sharp,
How we fare through winter depends on how we prepared our heart.
Springtime we were small children, happy at play,
Summer time we blossomed, we were on our way.
Then fall came, time to evaluate and look around,
Were the things of real value still waiting to be found?
As winter was fast approaching, no time to waste,
Had we failed our Lord as we lived in haste?
With no time for our Lord to serve Him each day,
No time to read His Word, no time to pray.
Had we failed to gather fuel so our flame could burn bright,
Had we prepared ourselves to point others to the Light?
Not much time left, as our life comes into full view,
Have we made preparation to be among that few,
Who fervently are watching for our Lord's soon return,
So don't forget to share His Word and show real concern,
For all the souls that are dying and have failed to prepare.
God needs someone like you, who will really care.
